ARCTIC RIDE

(Snowmobile day)

2018 Winter activity,
2019 coming soon

The snowmobile has become a very frequent mean of transport in Arctic countries, because it adapts to a wide variety of terrains and allows quick access to the remotest places.

The backcountry of Ilulissat offers great landscapes to be discovered, and we give you all the ingredients to make that possible. Our local guides and modern snowmobiles are a great way to explore snowy valleys and mountains, frozen lakes, fjords and the sea ice.

The route we choose will always depend on snow and ice conditions. Our main route is visiting the authentic settlement of Oqaatsut, 20 km north from Ilulissat where 37 Inuits live all year round. There we go on a small walk around the village, visit a local family and listen to stories about the settlement, its people and their way of life.

If conditions do not allow to go to Oqaatsut, we offer you an alternative with unbeatable scenery. We go up the mountains, see dogsleds doing their route to ice-fish in the icefjord, and reach a series of viewpoints of Ilulissat, Disko Bay and the Ice Cap. In our favourite spot we have a nice break with hot drinks and biscuits.

No previous experience is required. We provide all the equipment and our experienced guide will teach how to drive the snowmobile.
